

HUD RESOURCE DIRECTORY

Date Extracted: 05/15/2024

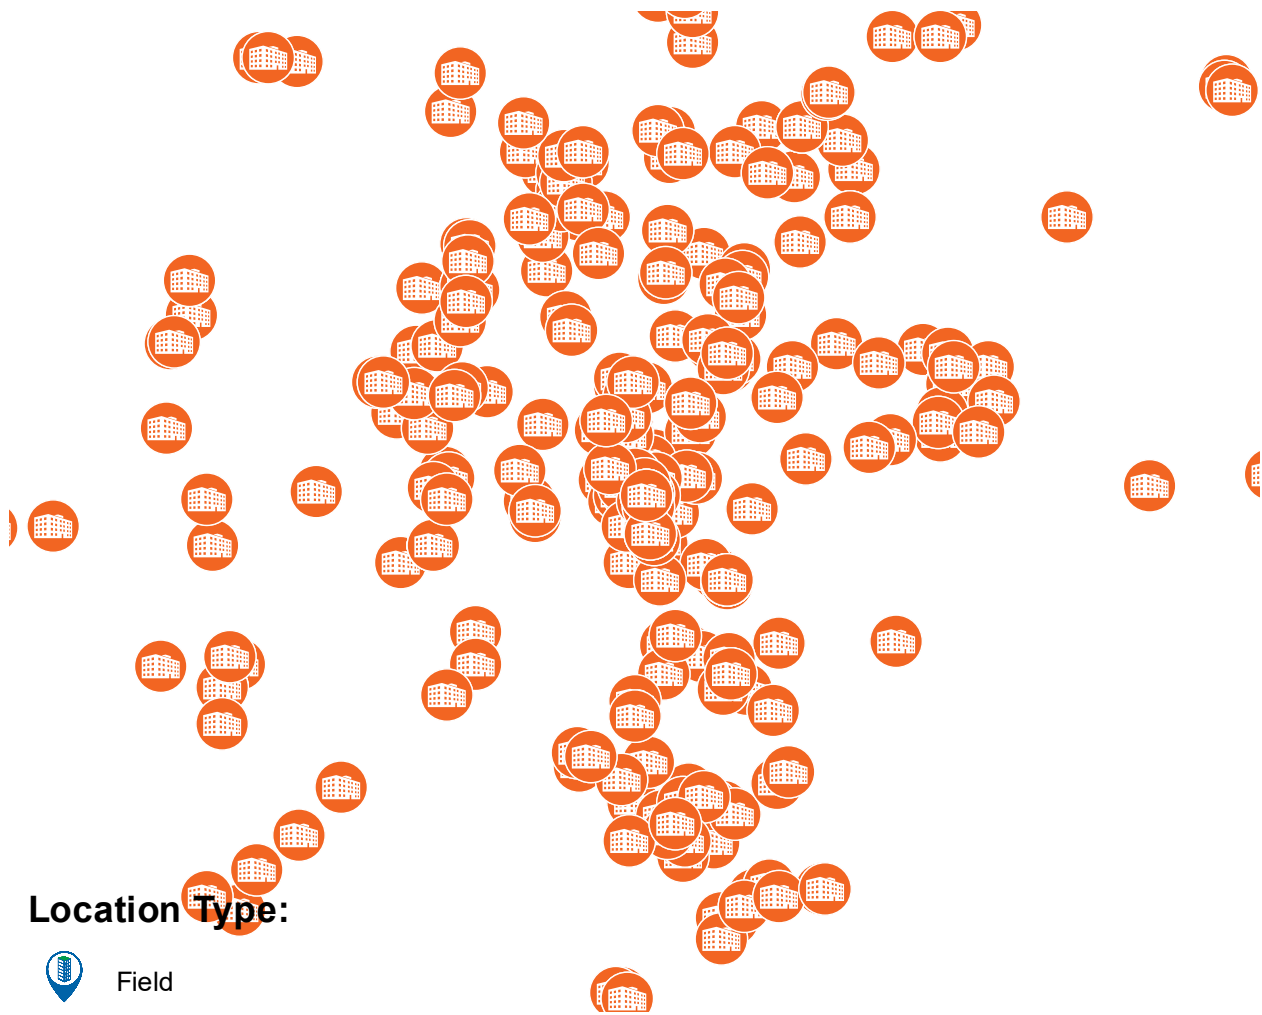

This U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Resource Directory was automatically compiled by the HUD Resource Locator to assist low-moderate income families locate decent, safe and affordable rental housing and other associated resources. Included is information about housing for “Elderly and/or Special Needs Persons”; Privately Owned HUD “Subsidized Housing”; Low Income Housing Tax Credit Apartments; HUD’s Public Housing Program; Continuum of Care Homeless Points of Contact; and USDA Rural Housing. HUD may subsidize some apartment complexes listed within this document. Monthly rent for some subsidized apartments may be lower than conventional market rates. Please note that HUD provides funding for the various housing complexes and entities listed in this directory. However, HUD does not administer these programs directly. Therefore, persons seeking housing or services through one of these entities, apartment complexes or organizations listed here must apply directly to the housing complex or entity listed.

Disclaimer:

The HUD Resource Locator does not provide eligibility and waiting list information, unit availability, tenant selection preferences, or types of accessible features for these properties and resources. Therefore, please contact the Property Manager/Management Agent for additional information.

This information provides a general guide to locating HUD and USDA resources. Users of this data are cautioned that many of these resources have lengthy waiting lists and that units may not be actually available at this time. In addition, individuals with disabilities who need accessible features must make individual inquiries of owners/property managers to determine if the features of the units referred to in the inventory as "accessible" will actually meet their individual needs. Users of this website or smartphone application should report any contact information errors that they encounter while using the HUD Resource Locator to their respective field or regional HUD field office. HUD does not require that property managers list contact information in certain programs. If there is no contact information listed, you may visit the site directly to inquire about vacancies as well as how to apply.

HUD RESOURCE DIRECTORY

HUD Field/Regional Offices: If you have any questions about any resources, you can call the Field or Regional Office. During business hours, HUD staff are available to answer any questions about these resources or direct you to someone who may better assist you. There is at least one HUD Field Office in every State and a total of 10 Regional Offices. Each HUD Field Office is managed by a Field Office Director who reports to the Regional Administrator who oversees the Region.

Public Housing Authority (PHA): Public Housing Authorities operate federal housing programs such as the Housing Choice Voucher and the Public Housing programs. As well, they often operate other types of affordable housing and self-sufficiency programs. If you would like more information or are interested in applying for these programs, please contact your local Public Housing Authority (PHA). Learn about your local income limits.

Elderly: The Section 202 Supportive Housing for the Elderly Program is the primary elderly HUD housing program and is open to any very low-income household comprised of at least one person who is at least 62 years old at the time of initial occupancy. However, there are unique cases in which an elderly building may accept applicants who are younger and/or have a disability. Please note that other HUD housing programs may also offer assistance for elderly persons. If you are interested in a particular elderly building, contact the management company who will determine your eligibility.

Subsidized/Assisted Unit: A subsidized housing unit is one in which a tenant pays approximately 30% their adjusted income on rent and utilities. The management agent and/or the Public Housing Authority (PHA) calculate the tenant's rent amount. HUD then pays the difference between the tenants rent contribution and the total rent that is paid to the building owner. For more information on HUD rental assistance programs go here.

$

Affordable Unit: A housing unit that is designated for a person or a family with an income below the Median Family Income. You will need to contact the management company to find out the income guidelines of a particular building and whether any other eligibility criterion exists. While many affordable housing units have subsidized/assisted rents, not all do, so be sure to contact the management company to find out the criteria and eligibility of the building.

Project-Based Assistance: Project-based assistance is rental assistance that is located at a housing unit or complex. Generally, the subsidized/assisted rent is tied to that particular building. For more information on HUD rental assistance programs go here.

Tenant-Based Assistance: Tenant-based assistance is rental assistance in which the tenant has a choice in where to use their assistance. The housing unit will need to meet basic safety, habitability, and affordability standards. There is tenant-based assistance which is subsidized/assisted and can be used permanently and also assistance that may be for short-term such as to pay for a security deposit or a limited amount of money to pay for unpaid rent. For more information on HUD rental assistance programs go here.
